A Confirmed Rascal.

Eugene Minihan received a letter the past week from Samuel Hart, of Philadelphia, for whom Andrew Peterson had worked two years ago. Mr. Hart says that Peterson is no good; that he appropriated a set of harness tools from him; collected money for other parties and embezzled it; served some months in jail and work-house for being handy with a horse and buggy, besides beating a widow landlady out of a board bill and skipping out.

A Superior Orator.

We hear the most extravagant praise lavished upon the speech of Wm. G. Ramsey nominating John W. Hughes in the Morehead Representative convention. It is considered by those who attended from one of the most eloquent and appropriate nominating speeches that they ever heard. It may be confidently anticipated that Mr. Ramsey that he will rapidly rise to a proud eminence of oratorical achievement and bring more honors to the Old Commonwealth, than already ranks first in that line of intellectual activity.

Thomas B. Tippet.

The Democratic nominee for Representative from Bath and Rowan counties came from Ohio to Morehead, Rowan county, about ten years ago, and has since engaged extensively in the lumber business there. He bears the reputation of being a thorough business man, which particularly fits him for the office to which he will be elected; for the next General Assembly is to be a strictly business affair, having only sixty days in which to attend to its legislative duties. Mr. Tippet should secure the united and hearty support of the Democrats of the district, as his nomination was obtained without any wrangle whatever, and in a convention where the utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed.

Kinfolks of Bath.

The Owensville Outlook in last week's issue announced the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Warren, aged 84, who died Aug. 25, 1893. We make mention of it because she is well known to many of the readers of the Independent, and kinfolk to a few of our readers. Mrs. Warren was the wife of John D. McHenry, of Bath, who died Aug. 23, 1893. She was the mother of Mrs. H. H. McHenry, the better-half of the Independent. Mrs. Warren is now a widow and lives in Fayette county, and has a brother, Albert Costigan, who lives in Owen county. Mr. McHenry was kinfolk of the Snellings in Bath county, immigrated from that county to Frankfort about 45 years ago, but settled in Owen county just before the war, then several years after the war moved to Harrison county, where he died about the year 1872. —Corinth Independent.

Buy Your Reading Matter.

The Outlook has long suffered from a failure to receive mail transported on Sunday; for instance, the Cincinnati Sunday Commercial-Gazette and other papers that we very urgently need in our business. We have hesitated to complain, hoping matters would correct themselves. Now, if Uncle Sam's railroad postal clerks are like Mark Twain's Plains Indians, "powerful trouble-makers 'bout they get plenty of truck to read," it would be well enough for the Government to furnish them with an ample allowance of reading matter so there will be no occasion for their appropriating property that other folks have paid for and expect to be promptly forwarded to them. We have not only lost valuable mail, but have been seriously inconvenienced, and it is time that a stop was put to it. We have no reason to believe that the blame lies anywhere but upon the railroad agents.

John J. Smoot.

John J. Smoot, who was nominated by the Democratic Convention of the Thirty-fourth Senatorial District at Morehead on Wednesday, August 23, is the eldest son of the late Wm. Nicholas Smoot. He was born and raised on the head waters of White Oak Creek, this county. He has not yet reached the middle age of life, and, like his lamented father, is full of energy and business callings. He served as deputy sheriff under his father, but has not heretofore sought office at the hands of the people. He has taken a strong interest in politics, and is a working Democrat when one of the party's nominees is to be voted for. Having demonstrated his political faith by his works, he expects and will receive the hearty support of the party throughout the district at the polls in November. At present Mr. Smoot is engaged in buying and shipping leaf tobacco on a large scale in the town of Bath. No doubt he will conduct a vigorous Refuse Them Credit.

Peterson's escapade furnishes a text for a short sermon in the matter of our people allowing every stranger who comes here, even for only a limited stay, to beat them out of board, store and other bills. This thing of extending indiscriminate credit to such people is not only a bad business policy that brings a total immense pecuniary loss to the creditors, but it is an injustice to the whole community, which ultimately shares in such loss. As a rule, such people have no claim to credit, because they have no property in sight, depending on their wages or salary for a living, and have nothing but supposed honor, of which, in reality, it should take years of acquaintance to demonstrate the actual possession. Oftentimes young mechanics and others become trifling and outright "coney" through no other cause than that they can secure extensive credit with merchants, thus developing extravagant tastes and quickly going to the dogs. So, it will be much more often a favor to refuse than to grant credit, if the party asking it is a young man of apparently good habits; and if he is one of those roystering, drinking, boggly-riding high-fyers, that wants to live like he had an income of $10,000, he should be told that "it takes money on the poodles to see the wheel go round."

Morehead Conventions.

Pursuant to the call, the Democratic delegates to the 21th Senatorial district, composed of the counties of Bath, Carter, Fleming, Menefee and Rowan, met in convention in Morehead, Aug. 23, 1893. The Committee on Resolutions offered the following, which were adopted upon motion of C. W. Nesbitt, seconded by Rolfe Green: "Resolved, That we approve of the call for this convention to nominate a Democratic candidate for Senator. "Second, That we heartily welcome to our district the worthy and staunch Democratic county of Menefee. The report of the Committee on Credentials was adopted. On motion of Judge C. E. Bove, of Fleming, seconded by Frank Powers, of Carter, the following was adopted: "That we recognize in Hon. A. W. Bascom, of Bath, a man of sterling worth and undoubted ability, and heartily recommend him to the President for Collector of the Seventh Internal Revenue district, and ask Hons. Blackburn, Lindsay and T. H. Paynter to use all honorable means to secure his appointment." On call of the counties for nominations, C. W. Nesbitt presented the name of John J. Smoot, of Bath; Wm. G. Ramsey, of Bath, seconded the nomination. Hon. Frank Powers, of Carter, presented the name of S. L. Bays, of Carter. On call of the counties for a vote, when Carter was reached, the county's delegation withdrew for consultation; upon return, Hon. Frank Powers withdrew the name of S. L. Bays and moved that the nomination of John J. Smoot be made unanimous, which was carried. The Chair then appointed the following Committee to wait upon Mr. Smoot and notify him of the action of the convention: Carter—Hon. Frank Powers; Rowan

—Geo. Whitt; Fleming—Judge C. E. Bove; Bath—C. W. Nesbitt.

The Committee retired, and in a few minutes returned with Mr. Smoot, who was presented to the convention. He accepted the nomination in a brief speech. JAMES H. WILLIAMS, Chairman.

—Kentucky is taking first prizes right along in the Columbian Fair cattle show.

—In shooting craps and a pistol at Paris Ike Williams shot and killed Henry Ward, Saturday night. Parties colored.

—Anglen Bridge-water, the noted Lincoln county desperado who reformed and lived an exemplary life, died at Moreland Station, August 20.

—At Trenton, Ky., Wm. Meadows shot at Pinkney Humphries in self-defense, killing him, his mother and wounding his little daughter with one charge of buckshot.

—The fiery campaign is over in Lexington. Duncan is elected Mayor, and Col. Hodges, Senator. The former is editor of the Daily Press and the latter is editor of the Observer.

—George Delaney, brother of Henry whose compulsory marriage to Miss Abbie Oliver brought on the noted Union county tragedy, got a life imprisonment for his part in the murder of his sister-in-law. Frank Holt had already received a two-year sentence.

—Robert Hardwick was defendant in a hasty suit at Stanton, Powell county. It is said that he had, some months previously, threatened to kill County Attorney W. H. Averitt. Saturday, some angry words were passed between the two, resulting in Hardwick shooting and killing Averitt. Asa Pettitt, a friend of Averitt, shot and fatally wounded Hardwick.

—City Marshal J. B. Smith, of Lexington, shot and killed a friend, R. W. Vowell, the protection of Police Chief Fitzgerald for a share in the profits of a faro bank to be run in Maysville during the Fair. Fitzgerald entered into the matter in seemingly good faith, and recommended rooms, which Vowell found, upon arriving at the place, to be located in the county jail. Vowell and Smith feel like that their trusting innocence had been ruthlessly betrayed.

—Mrs. Hume Clay, who was Miss Mary Thomas, daughter of Capt. J. M. Thomas, of Paris, has sued for divorce from her husband, who is serving a ten-year sentence in the Frankfort penitentiary for forging his grandfather's name for about $100,000. Mrs. Clay stood by her husband faithfully during his trial, and when he was convicted, used her utmost influence to secure his pardon, but was informed by the Governor that he would have to serve out his time.

—Miss Dallas Cooke, a beautiful belle of Atlanta, Ga., was wedded a year ago to C. A. Tarlton, a very wealthy youth of Lexington. The wife has sued for divorce and $25,000 alimony, charging that during her absence her husband entertained improper characters at their family home. It is alleged also that the young wife was fond of young men's society, and acted indiscreetly at the High Bridge camp-meeting while her husband was away an amateur soldiering at Bowling Green.

—Policeman Grace is the Sandow of the Lexington force, but two "cruel" gen'en, Charlie Caldwell and Jere Crouch, held him while a "cruel" lady, wife of Caldwell, tore his neckwear and pasted him a few in the face, all escaping. A row of physical culture within reach of all is found in a rule laid down for young women by Mrs. Bridget Maguire, of New York City. The rule is that the high Latin name for bromine in the hands, which should be held at half-reach reversed grasp, allowing the middle portion of the thumb to rest upon the floor, and holding firmly to the upper end of the handle. Bend the body slightly forward, give the arms a horizontal movement, lift the scapulae slightly and move one foot before the other. Repeat these movements until the scapulae have been brought in contact with every portion of the floor.

THE people of this country are not the only people on earth suffering from a financial panic. In Germany, where the reichsmark has been depreciated, an army bill which greatly enhances the tax burden, the young emperor is put to his wits' end as to how to raise money to defray the cost of the bill. The long drought in the country of the Rhine has forced even the importation of hay, to say nothing of the necessary food for man.

The Kaiser and the czar have virtually stopped commercial exchange between their respective countries so that a big market for German products is cut off.

TEXAS did not fail last year to maintain its supremacy in the way of agricultural products. According to the report of the census, the bollingworth of Texas, that great state last year had under cultivation 9,067,827 acres of land, while the value of the products of the state amounted to $127,120,213. There were 4,320,310 acres devoted to the cultivation of cotton and 1,166,232 acres to the growing of corn; the value of these two products was $10,725,000 and $10,725,000.

The value of the wheat crop of the United States for the year ending September 1, 1901, was $101,675, and honey was produced to the value of $26,000.

ECHOES FROM THE STORM.

The Sea Cane Loss of Life. Fifteen More Victims to Be Added to the List.

New York, Aug. 25.—Phil Stephen Cooper came into port on Friday morning, having been out through the storm. He reports that on Thursday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, while twenty miles off Sandy Hook, he picked up a man clinging to the masthead of a small boat.

The man, who was a Polish sailor, was found by the ship's crew. He was taken aboard the ship and given medical attention. He was found to be a survivor of the schooner "The Sloop," which had been wrecked on Thursday night.
